

Steven Anton, Ph.D., doctorate in clinical psychology '03, and Otto Pedraza, Ph.D., doctorate in clinical psychology '04, received UF's Outstanding Young Alumni Award. They were honored at a recognition breakfast and invited to sit in the President's Box at the Orange and Blue football game. Anton is an assistant professor at UF and Pedraza is an assistant professor at the Mayo Clinic.

Ann Moodey Ashe, bachelor's in occupational therapy '82, was appointed to a three-year term as the practice representative to the American Occupational Therapy Association's Ethics Commission. She works in an outpatient setting with adults and is the OT fieldwork coordinator for Bon Secours Hampton Roads Health System. Ann lives in Norfolk, Va.

Jennifer Devine, bachelor's in health science '03, married Shaun Kass of Philadelphia on Oct. 25, 2008. They live in Middletown, Conn.

Breanne Hart, bachelor's in health science '01, married John Johnsen, bachelor's in mechanical engineering '03 and master's in engineering '05, on November 8, 2008. They live in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

Jeanette Hrubes, bachelor's in physical therapy '94, opened a successful physical therapy clinic in Boulder, Colo. in 2002. She added a second clinic in Brighton in 2007. She is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association with specialization in the Sports Physical Therapy and Hand Rehabilitation sections. Jeanette is also the proud parent to a little athlete in training.

Jennifer Lewin, bachelor's in occupational therapy '00, announces the grand opening of her private therapy practice, Gold Coast Pediatric Therapy LLC, in Boca Raton.

Shelley (Brouillard) Murphy, bachelor's in health science '07, is a first-year medical student at Florida State University College of Medicine in the class of 2012. She plans to enter the field of pediatrics.

Susan Stallings-Sahler, Ph.D., bachelor's in occupational therapy '76, is the owner and director of Sensational Kids! Pediatric Rehabilitation and Counseling Center Inc. in Augusta, Ga. Her husband, Hunter, is a clinical social worker at Fort Gordon Army Base and daughter Ashley is a sophomore at the Savannah College of Art and Design.

William Walders, master's in health administration '07, accepted a position as the chief information officer for Naval Hospital Rota in Spain.

Ronald Aldrich, an adviser, instructor and friend to UF and PHHP, has announced his retirement from his UF leadership positions.

A member of the first graduating class of the master's in health administration program in 1966, Aldrich was also the first PHHP graduate elected to serve on the UF Foundation Board of Directors when he assumed the role in 2005. Aldrich has been a member of the PHHP Advisory Board since 2004 and he and his wife, Mary Lynne, have been generous donors to the college through gifts to support faculty and graduate education. Aldrich has also served as an executive in residence in the department of health services research, management and policy. He received the college's alumnus of the year award in 2007.

"One of the highlights of my service to UF has been working with M.H.A. students and giving them advice about their careers," Aldrich said.

Now it's time to step down from his UF positions and focus on contributing to his local community — Santa Fe, N.M., said Aldrich, whose 40-plus year career includes top leadership roles at national and regional health care systems.

"We have been fortunate to have Ron share with us his expertise and experience," said Interim Dean Michael G. Perri. "He has been a great friend to the college, giving much of his time and talents. We are very grateful to him and wish him and Mary Lynne the very best in the coming years." ●
