

Lori Bilello, MBA/MHS

Bio

Lori Bilello has been in the health care field for over 28 years. She received her Bachelor of Health Science in 1981 at UF and her Master of Business Administration and Master of Health Science in Health and Hospital Administration in 1987. She has had a diverse career in healthcare planning and management including Director of Planning for University Medical Center in Jacksonville Florida and Director of Primary Care Development for the UF Health Science Center- Jacksonville. For the past 12 years, she was the Executive Director of the Health Planning Council of Northeast Florida, an agency that provided health planning and policy development, program administration, program evaluation and healthcare advocacy for the region. Currently, she is a full-time Doctoral student studying Health Services Research at the University of Florida and a health consultant specializing in community planning and grants development.